

August 24, 2018

The Honorable John Katko 1620 Longworth House Office Building U.S. House of Representatives Washington, DC 20515 The Honorable Grace Napolitano 1610 Longworth House Office Building U.S. House of Representatives Washington, DC 20515

Dear Representatives Katko and Napolitano:

The undersigned national organizations dedicated to strengthening Americans' access to mental health care write to extend our strong support for the Mental Health Professionals Workforce Shortage Loan Relief Act of 2018 (H.R. 6597). This legislation is a vital step in addressing our nation's dire shortage of mental health professionals and reducing the unmet mental health treatment gap for Americans across the lifespan.

The prevalence of mental health and substance use disorders in the United States is alarming. According to the National Institutes of Mental Health, in the past year alone nearly one in five adults in the United States experienced a mental or behavioral health problem. In addition, data indicate approximately 21% of youth aged 13-18 experiences a severe mental disorder at some point in their life; for children aged 8-15, the estimate is 13%. Untreated mental health disorders can lead to a host of adverse consequences, including homelessness, academic failure, unemployment, contact with the criminal or juvenile justice system, and suicide. With approximately 105.7 million Americans currently living in federally-designated mental health professional shortage areas, it is paramount to provide access to timely, appropriate, and effective mental health treatment to help individuals with mental and behavioral health conditions obtain the services they need to thrive.

As you know, there is a severe shortage of mental health professionals across almost all specialties, particularly in rural areas. A 2016 report from the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) projected the supply of personnel in selected behavioral and mental health fields to be 250,000 workers short of the projected demand in 2025. Currently, every state faces a shortage of child and adolescent psychiatrists, with the current shortage estimated at over 20,000. Further, projections from HRSA indicate that with the increasing demand for psychological services, the current shortage of psychologists is expected to become larger — with a shortage of approximately 58,000 psychologists by 2025. Those same projections forecast a shortage of nearly 27,000 mental health counselors by 2025. Finally, the Bureau of Labor Statistics says there is a need for 16% more social workers, or 109,000, by 2025.

Page 2 of 3

We applaud your goal of building a robust mental and behavioral health workforce and look forward to working with you and your colleagues to pass the Mental Health Professionals Workforce Shortage Loan Relief Act.

Sincerely,

American Art Therapy Association
American Association for Geriatric Psychiatry
American Association for Psychoanalysis in Clinical Social Work
American Association of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry
American Counseling Association
American Dance Therapy Association
American Foundation for Suicide Prevention
American Group Psychotherapy Association
American Mental Health Counselors Association
American Psychoanalytic Association
American Psychological Association
American Psychological Association
Anxiety and Depression Association of America

Association for Ambulatory Behavioral Healthcare Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies

Association for Behavioral Health and Wellness

Bazelon Center for Mental Health Law Campaign for Trauma-Informed Policy and Practice

Center for Clinical Social Work

Children and Adults with Attention-Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder

Cities Thrive Coalition

Clinical Social Work Association

College of Psychiatric and Neurologic Pharmacists

Council on Social Work Education

Depression and Bipolar Support Alliance

Global Alliance for Behavioral Health and Social Justice

Mental Health America

NAMI- National Alliance on Mental Illness

National Alliance to Advance Adolescent Health

National Association for Behavioral Healthcare

National Association for Children's Behavioral Health

National Association for Rural Mental Health

National Association of County Behavioral Health and Developmental Disability Directors

National Association of School Psychologists

National Association of Social Workers

National Association of State Mental Health Program Directors

National Board for Certified Counselors

National Council for Behavioral Health

National Federation of Families for Children's Mental Health

National League for Nursing

National Register of Health Service Psychologists

NHMH- No Health without Mental Health School Social Work Association of America The Kennedy Forum

The Trevor Project
Treatment Communities of America
2020 Mom